

ART & DESIGN

Grade A - Considerable and high quality work

You show very good knowledge, skills and understanding. You can show ideas through research and explore ideas. You are able to sustain pieces of work and show how your work has been intervened by other artists or designers. Work is imaginative and well-produced.

Grade B - Clear and consistent skills

You show good knowledge, skills and understanding. You can show ideas through research and explore ideas. You are able to sustain pieces of work which have been influenced by other artists or designers. Work is imaginative and mainly well produced.

Grade C - Developing Skills mainly good work

You show knowledge, skills and understanding in a general way. You draw and show ideas in a consistent way. You have a sense of purpose and effectively develop ideas. You can use different materials well and show that you can review and change their work as it progresses. You show how your work has been influenced by other artists or designers.

Grade D - Developing Skills - some good work

You show some ability in knowledge skills and understanding that may be uneven. You show some control and some research and development. You have shown that you have looked at the work of other artists or designers.

Grade E - Some limited or modest skills

You show some ability in knowledge, skills and understanding. You attempt to develop and explore ideas with some control and try to review and change your work. You seek to make some connection with the work of other artists or designers.

Grade F - Limited or Modern Skills

You have shown a modest ability in knowledge, skills and understanding and work will be uneven. You have made an attempt at some development and have some connection with the work of other artists or designers.

Grade G - Minimal, poor quality work

Little work is produced and shows little thought or skill. You have not really understood what to do or how to improve their work.

Grade U - Very little and very poor quality work

Very little work is produced and shows very little thought or skills.